

Emergency Call Practice

Time: 20 minutes

You need

- ☐ Paper and pencil
- ☐ A toy or pretend phone
- ☐ A friend or family member

Steps

- 1 Find out the emergency number where you live and write it big on paper.
- 2 Write what you would say: where you are, what happened, and who needs help.
- 3 Practise with a friend who plays the call-taker. Speak slowly and clearly.
- 4 Swap roles and practise again.
- 5 Stick your script near the family phone.

Safety: Never call a real emergency number just to practise.

Before you start: what do I think will happen?

---

---

---

---

My observations

Table 1. My emergency call

| Question the call-taker asks | What I would say | Was it clear? (Yes / Not yet) |
|------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------|
| Where are you?               |                  |                               |
| What happened?               |                  |                               |
| Who needs help?              |                  |                               |
| What help do they need?      |                  |                               |
| Is anyone in danger now?     |                  |                               |

Think about it

Why is it important to stay calm and speak clearly?

---

Which details help helpers find you fast?

---

Draw or stick your work here

Name: _____ Date: _____

CuriousLeap - Ask a grown-up to help whenever you need.